

ARE YOU AN OPTIMIST OR A PESSIMIST?

Margaret Wheatley ©2020

Some people want to put us into a category.
Some people only feel good when they know where they fit.

Are you an optimist?
A pessimist?

Really, there's only one right answer. You have to be an optimist.
Otherwise you're a drag. No fun to be around. Dr. Death. And a new term, you're from the "Doomsphere."

In the past, we were taught to note our worldview by looking at a glass of water. Is the glass half empty? Is it half full?
Your answer defines your identity: Gloom and doom or hopeful and great to hang out with.

What a nonsensical question this is. Is the glass half full or half empty?
Who cares?!

The right questions for Warriors are:

Who needs the water and how can we get it to them?

What is the work that needs doing and how can I contribute to making it happen?

No labels. Just seeing clearly what needs to be done and stepping up to do it.
